

British Columbia Western & Wildlife Art Show

By Emma Adair

The 1st annual British Columbia Western and Wildlife Art Show is scheduled to take place at the Abbotsford Curling Centre the weekend of August 1-2. The show has brought a great deal of excitement to both artist and collectors in the province. Despite Canada being home to some of the world's most talented western and wildlife artists there has not been such an event for over a decade.

The featured artist of this show is world-renowned wildlife painter Terry Isaac. In addition there are over twenty-five more (at the time of this article) exceptionally talented artists participating. They come throughout the provinces of Alberta, British Columbia and the Yukon.

The town of Abbotsford appears to be enthusiastic. A reception for the artists, their families and collectors is scheduled at the presidential suite at the Best Western regency on Friday, July 31. Artists and collectors seeking additional information should visit the show website at: www.bcwildlifeartshow.com
